The Gun Goes Off

Instantly when you pull the trigger. So sickness may come on suddenly. But it takes time to load the gun, and it takes time to get ready for those explosions called Coughs, colds, any "attack," whatever the subject be, often means preceding weakness and poor blood. Are you getting thin? Is your appetite poor? Are you losing that snap, energy and vigor that make "clear-headedness?" Do one thing: build up your whole system with SCOTT'S EMULSION of Cod-liver Oil. It is the essence of nourishment. It does not nauseate, does not trouble the stomach. And it replaces all that disease robs you of.

THE HERALD continues to receive communications which are not accompanied with the real name of the author as an evidence of good faith, and we have been forced to reject well written articles which would have been pleased to publish. Once more we would urge correspondents to sign their names, not for publication, unless you desire, but as an evidence to the editor of good faith.
We often have to crowd out good reading on account of it reaching us too late for publication. Many persons seem to think that we do all our type-setting on the day before publication and therefore wait until Tuesday to get their letters, or send them so they will reach us Tuesday. This crowds too much into one day and we are often forced to leave something out. We would be pleased if our correspondents would not delay until Tuesday to send in their favors unless it is an account of something that happened on Monday. We value our correspondents highly and simply throw out this little hint so that we may be mutually benefited.
The Echo, published at London, Ky., has the following to say concerning a gentleman who was once a resident of our county, than whom no more worth, or popular young man ever left our county: "Messrs. W. B. Miller and G. W. Harrison have bought out the store and used the mines of the Star Coal Co., this county, assuming the debts of the company. Mr. Miller was originally from Hartford, Ohio county, and has worked as clerk for the Star Coal Co., for three years. He is one of the cleverest men on earth, is capable, honest and industrious and does not touch that which intoxicates. Mr. Harrison is a good business man and has charge of the mines while Mr. Miller has charge of the store."

THE JUDICIAL DISTRICT MATTER.

EDITOR HERALD:—My attention has been called to a bill introduced in the present extraordinary session of the Legislature to form a new Judicial District out of the counties of Ohio, Hancock, Muhlenberg and Butler. This purports to be a measure in the nature of a relief to the Circuit Court as at present organized. To me it seems a measure for the useless and needless creation of more offices to be filled at the expense of a people who are already loaded with a burden of taxation heavy enough to be far out of harmony with their scanty incomes and which is soon to be increased to meet the necessities already existing. The proposition to form a new Judicial District of the counties proposed in this bill should meet a prompt protest from every taxpayer in the District and the State without regard to his political opinions. It is true this move would open places for new officials, but is it a public necessity? We think not.
Ohio county is by far the largest county in the proposed district. In this county we now have sixty days in court each year. Our court here is well up with the docket, every equity suit demanding trial having been disposed of at the recent term and only a few ordinary actions standing for trial and left untended. The court is as nearly up with the docket here as it is for many years, and there is practically no delay for want of time. This statement is quite as true of Butler, Muhlenberg and Hancock as of this county. Ohio county has a population of 23,946 by the last census, while the entire remainder of the proposed district has but 41,125, less than twice that of Ohio. Proportioned to population, there should be less than twice as much litigation in the remainder of the district as there is in Ohio. Making our sixty days one-third the time required by the courts of the proposed district, the time actually occupied by the new officials in holding court would be 180 days in the year. Even if work could be found to prolong the term one third longer, then this estimate, there would yet remain one third of the year unoccupied by the new judges—during which his salary would go on, of course. The $8,000 paid to the new judge and $500 paid to the new Commonwealth's Attorney out of the treasury would be but a small part of the cost of the court machinery in the new district. The enormous outlay for grand and petit juries and various other expenditures incident to conducting the courts would amount to many thousands of dollars each year. There is absolutely no demand for such an expenditure and its undertaking by the State at this time would be worse than useless waste of the people's money. We do not believe that with the facts properly before them the gentlemen composing the Legislature will think of passing the bill creating the proposed new district.
WHITESVILLE.
March 20th, 1897.—Whitesville is a busy place with its large factories running with full forces.
We now have two stages to Owensboro.
There has been a great deal of trouble near Philpot lately, occasioned by the high water.
Miss Katie Stiles, of South Carrollton and Miss Laura Stiles, of Beech Grove, visited in town last week.
Elder J. L. Brewer held his regular appointment at the Christian Church Sunday.
Dr. J. T. Wedding, who has been confined to his room for several days, is able to be out again.
Frank May, of Owensboro, was in town this week.
The select school at this place which is being taught by Prof. J. S. Morrow, is quite a success and some excellent work is being done by the students.
Candidates are very plentiful in this part of the county, as well as all other places. Some of them will get off the track the first day of May. We have only one candidate for Jailor and School Superintendent, also County Clerk, but for Judge, Attorney, Sheriff and Circuit Clerk there are quite a number who desire to be officers.
I notice the name of a young man in your county who is a candidate for School Superintendent; a young man whom I have the pleasure of knowing and whom I hold in the highest esteem. I have been his student and can truthfully say that in the schoolroom he has no equal. He is industrious, honest and truthful. His highest aim is to lead the minds of boys and girls in the fields of thought and intelligence. He is a self-made young man and the voters of Ohio county could do no better than to give to this young man their support on the third day of April, and he would carry the banner to victory at the final election. Give him your hearty support and you will never regret it. The man whom I love and respect for his integrity and honesty is no other than your esteemed fellow citizen and countyman, Charles H. Ellis.

THE FUTURE OF DEMOCRACY.

Mr. editor, you will permit a layman, a private in the ranks if you please, to give expression to a few thoughts concerning the future of the Democratic party? We have no axe to grind, no cousin nor kin folk whose political aspirations we would secretly bolster up. But "times are with us as a party," with "small men in the saddle," whose capacity for great leadership falls infinitely below that of other days, and below the necessities of times. Any national party such as the Democratic party, is liable to have differences within its ranks growing out of the general issues, which affect the various sections of this union, and the Democratic party being thoroughly national, has had more of these internal dissensions than the Republican party, from the fact that the head and front of its power has been in the North and East, where protection has been desired and where its benefits have been amassed.
The time was when there was a strong faction headed by Mr. Randall and others which fought for "high tariff," and which threatened a serious division in our ranks. But wiser counsel prevailed. Mr. Randall, who was the best friend the South ever had and his followers were not read out of the party, the education of the people on these lines went on, until "tariff reform" became the law of the party and upon this law of principle, Democracy swept the country, and but for the inauspicious circumstances over which the party had no control, namely the panic and its depressing influences, together with the maddening discussions on the money question, this Government would have still been under the control of the party of the Constitution.
Unhappily the panic, which we honestly believe was the result of Republican administration, came with the advent of Democracy into power. This led to furious dissensions on the currency question and to extreme views, so extreme as to create dissensions and cause the defeat of the great Democratic party in the State of Kentucky and in the national election. It is an evident fact that the Republican party did not defeat us; we defeated ourselves. Now the question is, what shall be done? Is there enough in politics, is there enough in Democracy to justify the people—the common people if you please—in making an effort to restore the party to power and to the respect of the people? We think there is. We have voted for Democracy because we believed in its principles, and believed them to be necessary to the perpetuity of Republican institutions, and for the best interests of the common people. We believe to-day that the Democratic party is a necessity, that the future will prove its absolute necessity. Believing this, we are for a united party. If we do not agree on all the questions which have been agitated, we agree on the necessity and importance of the Democratic organization. Then why this proscription, and this wholesale vilification of one another? We have been disgusted with representing each faction, throwing mud and criminating and recriminating one another. These should be repudiated by the people and earnest, honest efforts should be made to reorganize the party on old lines. We must confess to a feeling of utter disgust at the part which our national committee is now playing in this. The man who above all others should be striving to reunite and to dignify the great Democratic party, seems to follow his own personal hates and resentments to dominate his every utterance and action. He shows no moderation, nor good sense, in denouncing those Democrats who in the exercise of their rights of suffrage, chose to vote otherwise than with him and the great body of Democracy, on vital issues last November; and persistently refuses to allow them in any way to resume their places in the regular column.
No sound-money Democrat—so-called—would wish to ally himself with Democracy, with the hope of personal promotion, hence we conclude that they who would propose to vote with the regular organization do it because they see the greatest good for the country in so doing. We vote for Mr. Bryan and the ticket, but we can see no reason, and most assuredly no good policies in refusing all who claim to be Democrats in re-asserting their allegiance to a common cause. Democratic leaders should rise above the hate and personal bickering of the past, and that man who fails in this is a failure to the people. We are for conservatism as a leader. We are for conservatism, compromise and Democracy. We believe the opposition to radicalism, protection and force bills can be brought together.
The incoming administration has already shown its adhesiveness to the old "protection lobby" to the utter disregard of the sound-money theories upon which it was elected. A great President-elect of the Union, with the "power behind the throne"—Hanna—has spent months in "hobnobbing" with the Hunter elements of the Republican party, in order to bolster up a man, and an element capable of doing the bidding of Master Hanna, a direct thrust at the Governor who was not ready to prostitute his high office to the behests of the said power. With all these developments it is to be inferred that Democratic stomachs have been unassuaged and that all classes of Democracy will be ready to unite in the reorganization of the party. The Democratic party, born with the Government, has passed through many trying ordeals, and we think is destined to be the party of the people through the coming years. If blindness and madness can be held in check until reason reasserts itself. A DEMOCRAT.

THE PEOPLE'S PARTY CONVENTION.

The People's Party Convention is hereby called to meet at Hartford on Monday April 5th. This will be a Mass Convention for the purpose of nominating candidates for County Judge, Sheriff, Assessor, Surveyor and Coroner.
The Convention will also elect 18 delegates to the State Populist Convention which meets at Louisville on April 7th for the purpose of nominating a candidate for Clerk of the Court of Appeals. The County Convention will also attend to all other business that may come before it.
Populists, we have an even chance to elect every man we nominate on the 5th of April, providing we use good judgment and put out the right men, and every Populist in the county should attend. Turn out with all your wagons, buggies, horses and mules and bring all the boys to town. By order of the Committee.

A Death-bed Confession.
[New York Journal.]
Almost the last official act of President Cleveland was his signature of the bill providing for an international conference looking toward international bimetalism. It was a death-bed confession by the expiring gold-standard Administration, just as the passage of the bill was a confession by the Republicans in Congress that the single gold standard is a fraud, a failure and a menace. At the last moment the Republicans and Mr. Cleveland thus practically admit the justice of the attacks upon monometalism by the Democrats last summer. Though then, when the campaign was in progress, they denounced the Democrats as repudiators, inflationists and anarchists, they now range themselves with the objects of their denunciation. Though then they talked hotly about "debasing the currency," and insisted that there could be only one measure of value, and that gold should be that measure, they now take steps to "debase the currency" and to restore the double measure of values. Though then they ridiculed the complaint that the depreciating single standard had depreciated everything else, they are trying to re-establish the party between products and the circulating medium of exchange. Mr. Cleveland is out of the difficulty so created, and neither the country nor he is concerned with his future course with regard to future circumstances. But what of the Republican party? Having put itself into the position of an advocate of bimetalism it will not be able to resume, four years hence, its former position. Suppose the international conference has no result? Suppose no international agreement can be obtained? Now that it has repudiated the gold standard, how will the Republican party oppose the Democrats when they renew the battle for bimetalism in 1900?
